

It's recruitment Jim but not as we know it!

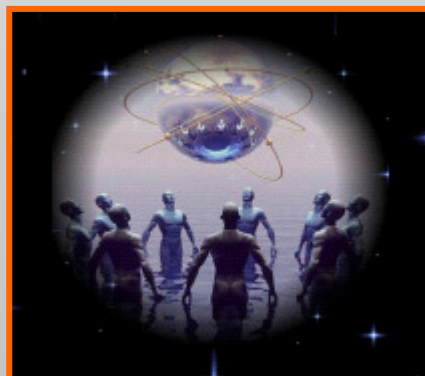

High Growth Recruitment runs a workshop on fantastic but easy recruitment techniques that will help companies to find better staff who stay longer.

If you want us to come and talk to your business about how you can do things differently or to find out more about this session please contact Sarah McDowell on 0844 800 8366

The session will cover:

- Interviews are dead:
There are many more ways to find much more interesting information about people by putting them in environments where they have to interact and react.
- Recruiting for personal qualities, as well as skill sets:
How to look for both and to test both; asking questions alone will not reveal the truth.
- Having fun not feeling the pressure
Finding new members for your team should be stimulating not stressful; we reveal how to spice it up a bit and make it interesting for everyone.
- Staff retention
Looking at ways of keeping staff once you have them and of course, the other big problem, why people leave and how to avoid it.

The session will be interactive and give a glimpse of new techniques and skills that companies can easily introduce to boost the introduction (and retention) of great talent.
